Depending on your installation team, you might save on labor when you buy additional panels. Installation is often considered a one-time cost.

How much does a solar system cost?

For residential and small-scale systems, the BOS and installation costs comprise 55% to 60% of total PV system costs. The average cost of BOS and installation for PV systems is in the range of USD 1.6 to USD 1.85/W, depending on whether the PV system is ground-mounted or rooftop, and whether it has a tracking system (Bony, 2010 and Photon, 2011).

Short of installing the solar panels yourself (which we don't recommend for safety and many other reasons), one of the only ways to reduce these non-labor soft costs is to use the solar.com marketplace to compare quotes.

How has the cost of solar PV changed over the last decade?

The cost of electricity from solar PV and CSP fell 82% between 2010 and 2019. Cost improvements since 2010 were driven mainly by the 90% reduction in module prices, along with declining balance-of-system costs. These pushed total solar PV installed costs down almost four-fifths over the last decade.

How do I estimate the performance of my solar installation?

The National Renewable Energy Laboratory (NREL) has a calculator to estimate the performance of your solar installation. You can input your address and the NREL will use existing data to estimate your power generation potential. You can also adjust the information based on the tilt angle, number of panels, and module type.

How much does solar cost per watt?

To put that in perspective, using the modeled market price (MMP) of $2.95 per Watt for residential solar, labor costs contributed just 16 cents per Watt of solar capacity installed. That's tied with structural balance of system (racking) for the second smallest piece of the solar cost pie, as shown below.
