Solar array mounted on a rooftop. A solar panel is a device that converts sunlight into electricity by using photovoltaic (PV) cells. PV cells are made of materials that produce excited electrons when exposed to light. The electrons flow through a circuit and produce direct current (DC) electricity, which can be used to power various devices or be stored in batteries.

A 200-watt solar panel can generate between 700 and 1,600 watt-hours of electricity per day, depending on your location. The average is around 1,000 watt-hours per day. The amount of sunlight varies across the USA, and solar engineers like to measure it using peak sun hours. Using the map below, you can see the approximate peak sun hours for ...
